SOCIAL SCIENCE

THE BOTTOM BILLION

NEW IN PAPERBACK

Why the Poorest Countries Are Failing and What Can Be Done About It

Paul Collier

Global poverty is falling quite rapidly for about eighty percent of the world. The real crisis lies in a group of about 50 failing states whose problems defy traditional approaches to alleviating poverty. The causes of failure include civil war, dependence on the export of natural resources, and bad governance. What the bottom billion need, Collier argues, is a bold new plan supported by the Group of Eight industrialized nations.

THE NEW FACES OF CHRISTIANITY

NEW IN PAPERBACK

Believing the Bible in the Global South

Philip Jenkins

In The Next Christendom, Jenkins called attention to the fact that Africa may soon be home to the world's largest Christian populations. Now, in this brilliant sequel, he takes a closer look at Christianity in the global South and shows that believers are reading the Bible with fresh eyes, finding ideas that are socially liberating, especially with respect to women's rights.

SCIENCE

AVOID BORING PEOPLE

NEW IN PAPERBACK

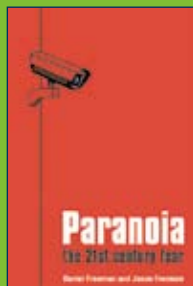

And other lessons from a life in science

James D. Watson

James D. Watson looks back on his extraordinary and varied career - from its beginnings as a schoolboy in Chicago's South Side to the day he left Harvard almost 50 years later, world-renowned as the co-discoverer of DNA - and considers the lessons he has learnt along the way. The result is both an engagingly eccentric memoir and an insightful compendium of lessons in life for aspiring scientists. Avoid Boring People is a quirky, original, wise, and un-put-downable blend of candid anecdotes and revealing insights into the life of one of the greatest scientists of the 20th century.

PARANOIA

The 21st-Century Fear

Daniel Freeman and Jason Freeman

Are we living in a uniquely paranoid age? New research suggests that around a quarter of us have regular paranoid thoughts, and probably lots more have them occasionally. What is paranoia? What causes it? Are some people more prone to paranoia than others? How should we deal with our paranoid thoughts? And how can we reduce the amount of paranoia in our society? Co-written by one of the world's leading psychologists of paranoia, and drawing on the latest scientific research, this lively and accessible book answers these key questions, highlighting for the first time the central role of paranoia in our world today.

THE MAKING OF MR. GRAY'S ANATOMY

Bodies, Books, Fortune, Fame

Ruth Richardson

Gray's Anatomy is one of the most iconic scientific books ever published. The Making of Mr Gray's Anatomy tells the story of the creation of this remarkable book, and the individuals who made it happen. It is the story of changing attitudes in the mid-19th century; of the social impact of science; the changing status of medicine; of poverty and class; of craftsmanship and technology. Ruth Richardson reflects on what made Gray's Anatomy such a unique intellectual, artistic, and cultural achievement, and how it represented a summation of a half century's blossoming of anatomical knowledge and exploration.

THE OXFORD BOOK OF GHOST STORIES

Edited by Michael Cox & R. A. Gilbert

The thrill and chill of the ghost story is displayed in all its variety and vitality through this marvellous anthology. Ranging from the early 19th century to the 1960s, the collection reveals the development of the genre, and showcases many of its greatest expositors - from Sir Walter Scott, H. G. Wells, M. R. James, T. H. White, Walter de la Mare, and Elizabeth Bowen in the UK to Edith Wharton in America. Though its heyday coincided with the golden age of Empire in the nineteenth century, the ghost story enjoyed a second flowering between the two World Wars and its popularity is as great as ever.

THE OXFORD BOOK OF WAR POETRY

Edited by Jon Stallworthy

There can be no area of human experience that has generated a wider range of powerful feelings than war. The 250 poems in John Stallworthy's classic and celebrated anthology span centuries of human experience of war, from David's Lament for Saul and Jonathan, and Homer's Iliad, to the finest poems of the First and Second World Wars, and beyond. Reflecting the feelings of poets as diverse as Byron, Hardy, Owen, Sassoon, and Heaney, they chart a great shift in human awareness - from man's early celebratory 'war-songs' to the twentieth century's darker poetic responses to 'man's inhumanity to man'.

THE OXFORD BOOK OF DEATH

Edited by D. J. Enright

The inescapable reality of death has given rise to much of literature's most profound and moving work. D. J. Enright's wonderfully eclectic selection presents the words of poet and novelist, scientist and philosopher, mystic and sceptic. And alongside these 'professional' writers, he allows the voices of ordinary people to be heard; for this is a subject on which there are no real experts and wisdom lies in many unexpected places. An intriguing and not always melancholic collection of insights on a subject of universal concern and fascination.

THE NEW OXFORD BOOK OF VICTORIAN VERSE

Edited by Christopher Ricks

A great age of poetry speaks for itself in Christopher Ricks's celebrated anthology: the variety and power of Victorian verse, the innovation and creativity with which poets resisted the bad propensities of the era through which they lived. The great figures are of course strongly represented - Tennyson and Browning, Swinburne and Hopkins - but not so as to crowd out the less expected but equally rewarding facets of light verse and nonsense, of grotesque and protest. At long last justice is done to the poignant directness of 'the true voice of feeling', from William Barnes and John Clare, through Emily Jane Bronte and Christina G. Rossetti, to Thomas Hardy.

THE NEW OXFORD BOOK OF SEVENTEENTH-CENTURY VERSE

Edited by Alastair Fowler

The seventeenth century was a period of remarkable achievement in the field of English poetry: it was the age of Shakespeare, Donne, Marvell, Jonson, Drayton, Herbert, Dryden, and Rochester among others. Alastair Fowler's celebrated anthology maps the terrain afresh, including innumerable and generous selections from all of the century's masterpieces as well as fascinating work by less familiar names. It strikes a balance between Metaphysical wit and intellect and Jonsonian simplicity, while also accommodating hitherto neglected popular verse. The result is a truer, more catholic representation of seventeenth-century verse than any previous anthology.

JOHN MILTON
Life, Work, and Thought
 Gordon Campbell & Thomas Corns

John Milton is viewed as the hero of radicalism, the spokesperson of republicanism, who ended his days a tragic hero. But this major new biography paints a more nuanced picture. John Milton: Life, Work, and Thought is the fruit of many years' research, in which the authors have revisited archival records and manuscripts, drawing on source materials which have lain untouched for over a century. The result is a work that will set the standards for Milton scholarship for years to come.

AUTISM
A Very Short Introduction
Uta Frith

What causes autism? Is it a genetic disorder, or due to some unknown environmental hazard? Are we facing an autism epidemic? What are the main symptoms, and how does it relate to Asperger syndrome? This Very Short Introduction offers a clear statement on what is currently known about autism and Asperger syndrome. Explaining the vast array of different conditions that hide behind these two labels, it explores the possible causes for the apparent rise in autism and also evaluates the links with neuroscience, psychology, brain development, genetics, and environmental causes. Throughout, it sheds light on what it is like to live inside the mind of the sufferer.

THE NEW TESTAMENT AS LITERATURE
A Very Short Introduction
Kyle Keefer

Looking at the New Testament through a very particular lens, that of literary study, Keefer raises questions about the language and crafting of this classic text. A literary approach to the New Testament assumes that the documents found here not only convey ideas but also entertain, prod, puzzle and delight audiences. Even for readers not religiously bound to the New Testament, the artistry of the New Testament can prove engaging and provocative. Reading the New Testament as literature brings to light the dynamics of this engagement.

SAYINGS OF THE BUDDHA
New Translations from the Pali Nikayas
Translated by Rupert Gethin

Gotama the Buddha, who lived the life of a wandering ascetic in northern India during the fifth century BC, is looked to as the founder of one of the world's major religions. The Nikayas are among the oldest Buddhist texts and consist of more than one and a half million words. This new translation offers a selection of the Buddha's most important sayings reflecting the full variety of material contained in the Nikayas: the central themes of the Buddha's teaching (his biography, philosophical discourse, instruction on morality, meditation, and the spiritual life) and the range of literary style (myth, dialogue, narrative, short sayings, verse).

POEMS AND PROSE
Christina Rossetti

Christina Rossetti (1830-94) is perhaps the most contradictory of the great Victorian poets. She writes of the world's beauty, but fears that it may be deceptive, even deadly. She is a religious poet, but much of her work is driven by uncertainty. Her poems are restrained, even secretive, but they seek nothing less than the mystery of Life and Death. This edition contains Rossetti's strongest and most distinctive work: poetry, stories, devotional prose, and personal letters. It brings together the fullest range of Rossetti's poetry and prose in one volume, and is an indispensable introduction to this entrancing writer.

IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Shepherd family have set off on their usual summer holiday under a cloud of gloom at the predictability of it all. When the car breaks down, they are forced to stay the night at the nearest B&B. To their dismay they find themselves at a place where Christmas comes every day of the year, complete with turkey and Santa Claus. And they discover it's even stranger than that, with the girl in the elf costume, the mysterious Mr Angel and the police seeking a fugitive. Stranded in this bizarre environment, unusual friendships develop and the relationships that have been so set in their ways are turned upside down. Full of comic moments, tension and drama, this is a highly satisfying read.

Just as the unknown regions of the world seized the imagination of the great explorers, so the exploits of those explorers continue to fascinate readers today. The book captures all the thrill of exploration; its fears, dangers and hardships; encounters with hostile landscapes and peoples, and the excitement of progress. All areas of the globe are covered and the journeys of explorers both famous and not so famous: Florence Baker in Egypt and Sudan; Mary Kingsley in West Africa; Lewis and Clark across the US; Franklin and Leary at the North Pole and Amundsen and Scott at the South. The final chapter examines the legacy of a region's exploration, by explaining its political, economic and other consequences.
