TALKiNG ELT

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS
AUSTRALIA & NEW ZEALAND

As we head into the second quarter of 2009, I am excited to announce the release of New Headway Intermediate 4th Edition! Now more than ever is the time to look again at New Headway where you will find new features to enhance the syllabus of the world's most trusted course. More details can be found on this page. Also, make sure you keep an eye out for the next issue of Talking ELT where we will showcase the fantastic iTools resources that have been developed for New Headway.

In keeping with the General English theme, you will find information about the new Intermediate level for the English for Life and English Result series on page 2. New English File has also grown to a 5-level course, with the addition of a Beginner level. This level delivers the New English File Grammar-Vocabulary-Pronunciation syllabus in a shorter format to suit Beginner-level students.

For your Beginner to Intermediate students needing some additional vocabulary support, the new edition Oxford Picture Dictionary is now available. Containing a monolingual and 13 bilingual editions, this popular picture dictionary will help students practice their vocabulary and develop their reading, critical thinking and speaking skills. More information can be found on page 3.

Don't forget to visit the Oxford University Press stand at the upcoming NEAS Conference (14th-15th May) where you can see these and many other new titles for 2009.

Happy reading!

Adults are People Too

It can be challenging to find activities and topics that engage and motivate adult learners yet still provide enough support to build confidence, especially at low levels. If adult learners are asked to do activities they consider childish, they may feel unmotivated even if they have the language skills for the activity. On the other hand, topics and activities that might be more interesting and ‘adult’ can leave students feeling frustrated if they don’t get the support they need to be successful. Here are three suggestions for helping adult students get the most out of your classes.

NEW RESOURCE BOOKS FOR TEACHERS FOR 2009

Advanced Learners

Alan Maley

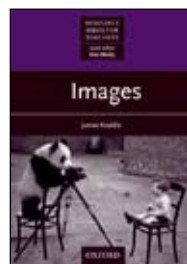

Addresses the needs of very advanced learners who wish to improve their proficiency further. Defines the distinctive learning style of advanced learners and challenges them both by introducing new activities and by engaging them in familiar activities at a higher level of proficiency.

Drama and Improvisation

Ken Wilson

Designed to enliven English classes through drama activities and activate students’ imagination and creativity.

Images

Jamie Keddie

Images demonstrates how virtually any text-based activity can be enhanced through the use of images. It argues that words and images are inseparable, and shows how images can be used to support the teaching of productive and receptive language skills, grammar, pronunciation, vocabulary, and more.
