About Oxford University Press

Oxford University Press (OUP) is a department of the University of Oxford. It furthers the University's objective of excellence in research, scholarship, and education by publishing worldwide. OUP is the world's largest university press with the widest global presence.

It currently publishes thousands of new publications a year, has offices in around fifty countries, and employs approximately 6,000 people worldwide.

It has become familiar to millions through a diverse publishing program that includes scholarly works in all academic disciplines, bibles, music, school and college textbooks, children's books, materials for teaching English as a foreign language, business books, dictionaries and reference books, and academic journals.

About OUP Australia & New Zealand

Since 1908, OUP Australia & New Zealand (OUP ANZ) has operated as a microcosm of OUP's worldwide organisation and we are the oldest continuous educational publisher in Australia.

We work hard to offer the best educational publishing through the development of premium quality print and digital educational resources. OUP ANZ publishes learning materials for primary, secondary and higher education students plus an extensive range of dictionaries for Australia, New Zealand and Papua New Guinea.
